A BIRTHDAY PORTRAIT OF PRINCE CHARLES

TILLING WORLD'S MOST PERISHABLE CROP — Specially designed harrows plow-under the stubble in the wake of a combine harvester as Hialeah Race Track is readied for the winter crop of winners, which "blowdown" in moments, and are "harvested" at the betting windows. During the summer, the famous Florida track's main racing crop is planted to more conventional crops.

THE 18-YEAR GAP between a dad his in Germany and the office of an Ottawa newspaper was bridged when Sgt. Robert Netter of the U.S. Army was finally reunited with his German girl friend, Margaret Roeder. Netter would not comment on a New York report that he had a wife and four children but that the couple was legally separated and he was seeking a divorce. Margaret, however, said that "nothing makes any difference between us" and that "we hope to get married as soon as possible."

TWO-YEAR-OLD Terry Daniels of the Bronx, New York, gazes in admiration at 51-year-old Sumaria Fickard of Albany, N.Y., winner of the title "Little Miss U.S.A." Pretty Sumaria was picked as the winner after a nation-wide contest. She received $7,500 in prizes and a trip to Bermuda with her parents.

SIAMESE TWINS Tjibbe and Fokke de Vries, of Leeuwarden, The Netherlands, look happy and healthy as they pose for their picture on their second birthday, November 4. Dutch surgeons separated them earlier this year.

HOW TO CATCH A "COLT" — In firepower, that is just operate the world's fastest firing machine gun ever mass produced, pictured above. Its action features a revolving cylinder similar to that in the old Army Colt being sighted by Ordnance Inspector Am Barrett at Pontiac, Mich. But while Am can fire about 12 shots in one minute, reloading once, the 35-mm. M-39 spits out 1200 rounds of high explosive shells in the same amount of time. Combat tested in Korea, it is electrically fired and gas operated.

WHODUNT — WHOISIT? — These self-effacing personalities would have you believe they're hiding from the police. Dominique of Paris, France, at left, writes novels based on police cases and routines, and hides behind the mask for secrecy (7). At right, the mysterious beauty may be wearing the white head doped to reject terror from the sun, but the dark domain just possibly may have been added to cat attention to the fact that Joe Samuels is posing at that tourist mecca, Miami Beach.

THERE'S NOTHING TO IT — Take it from California INVENTOR Lawrence Wahlstrom, who is adapting his misbegotten mechanical marvel prior to its appearance on a New York TV show, there's nothing to designing a complicated machine of this nature. Featuring what is perhaps the only square-grated machine drive in the world (circled), the complicated device accomplishes with much display of energy what many people would like to do—exactly nothing.

EXPLOSIVE HAIRDO — And now it's the Germans who are taking to atomic hairdos. At a recent exhibition at Hamburg, model Krista Neumann wore a new coiffure called "Atom Bomb" with an A-bomb mechanism blossoming out at the top of the head. It was designed by Antonio of Paris.

WHEAT KING — W. E. Brodson of Burlington, Ont., was named world wheat king at the Royal Winter Fair in Toronto. He holds a sample of his prize white winter wheat.

MEMORY ARTIST — Finishing touches to a multi-colored canvas are provided by Salvatore Massimo, New York City apartment house superintendent, whose eyeight has been deteriorating for the past 20 years. The 45-year-old artist, who now has only 20,000 vision in one eye and can distinguish only out-of-focus, colorless forms, uses his colors from memory for his canvases.

FOR BETTER HAMS — SASKATOON — Prince Edward Island is contributing to better ham and bacon in Saskatchewan. Thirty-eight Saskatchewan breeders each have received one or two of 65 Yorkshire hams of good registry purchased in P.E.I. Swine-keepers came from the farm of David Wright at Lower Montague.

Rate are a regular part of the diet in some parts of China.

OVERWHELMED by the pile of winning gibbons won by three of his four fox hounds at the recent All-Canadian Fox Hunters Association fad trials near Peterborough, Ont., is Otto Knechtel of Montreal. His hounds won over 48 others at the three-day trials.

Mr. Yates leaves the hunting to his wife and says: "She has such a passion for cougar killing that she will get up in the night and members are in the share they receive of the blessings of invention. To imagine that unions have any hand in providing those blessings is a fallacy. It is like confusing the postman with the friend who wrote the letter.

Local and District

Mrs. Dave Hunter is suffering from virus pneumonia.

Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Lawrence were motor visitors to Calgary last week.

Stan. Larson made a motor trip to Rocky Mountain House last Friday, and returned Saturday with a load of Christmas trees.

There will be Anglican Church service held in Delia Hanna morning at 11:15. Rev. M. Starr, of Hanna, will conduct the service.

Mrs. G. Hands has arrived home from a Hanna hospital, where she had been a patient for several days.

Cliff Morris arrived home from Hanna Hospital last Sunday afternoon, where he had been a patient for over a couple of weeks.

The spell of mild weather prevailing since the latter part of last week continues, at this writing. Temperatures have been registering a low of 15, and a high of 40 with bright sunny conditions around mid-day.

Mr. D. J. Watters, of the local hardware store, who has been suffering from a painful eye-infection, we regret to report has not been relieved at the moment.

He entered the Holy Cross Hospital yesterday as a patient, and doctors have almost given up hope that his eye can be saved, and probably will have to be removed.

As will be seen by advt., the Hanna Municipal Hospital is offering new one dollar and fifty-cent per day contracts to non-ratepayers and their dependents. This dollar sixty per day covers charges for medicines, x-rays, operating and laboratory work. There are some exceptions in the drug line and appliances, and although quite numerous are rarely used except on special occasions.

The purpose of a trade union is to provide its members with the advantages of collective bargaining for their members on conditions of work and rates of pay. It may do so for the benefit of its members, but such things are in addition to its original purpose.

If there is one primary fund from which blessings flow, it is the art of human invention. Possibly the greatest advance in comfort and prosperity was achieved by the man who decided it would be easier to roll things than to drag them. He, having come to that decision, carved a cross-section from a tree trunk and rudely fashioned a primitive wheel.

But invention in a slow business and inventors have to eat. If a goodly stream of new inventions and improvements is to be forthcoming, someone must grub-stake the inventor while he works. That is where the inventor does his share towards providing the blessings of invention.

For the sake of economy and efficiency, workers are used in days grouped together so that they may have common facilities and work together. This grouping, called the work it does is called research.

Finally, in order that invention may be enjoyed by people generally, it must be produced in quantity. It would be almost without value if the inventor kept it for just his private use. And so the process of production comes into play—capital, labour and management.

This is the position of the trade union. The service is offered and the worker accepts it. The service is a service, and as such, it is outside the process of production. The benefit which unionism has brought it

Western Canada Ladies' Curling Championships

In October, 1955, under the sponsorship of The T. Eaton Co. Limited, representatives from curling associations of Saskatchewan, Alberta and Manitoba met in Winnipeg to arrange for western curling playoffs. At this time the Western Canada Ladies' Curling Association was organized with Mrs. H. C. Andrews, Moose Jaw, Saskatchewan as President, and plans were completed for the 1964 Western Canada Ladies' Curling Championships to be held in Regina on March 30, 1965. The following year Mrs. Wm. Watson, Edmonton, presided over the annual meeting of the W.C.L.C.A. at which time Mrs. P. O. McIntyre was declared President for 1965. McIntyre, with the Championships to be played in Winnipeg. British Columbia has now affiliated, extending the playoffs to this far Western Province.

The year 1955 will see the final of the Eaton Western Ladies' Curling Championships played in the Manitoba capital at the Granite Club, March 14th, 15th and 16th.

Caring For House Plants

The fundamental needs for house plants to make growth and maintain health are light, heat, air, moisture and food. With few exceptions, house plants are growing in soil, and in a humid environment, many of our house plants are losing their thrifty appearance. At this time of year a little extra care is needed to keep them in condition.

To allow the plants to get as much light as possible, P. D. McCall, Supervisor of Horticulture, Alberta Department of Agriculture, suggests placing the plants in a sunny window. He further points out that though light is insufficient, the temperature of our homes during the winter is too high for most plant growth. The ideal temperature for most house plants is 60° to 65° F. This is too cold for human comfort, but if the temperature is lowered at night the plants are not likely to suffer unduly.

Another difficulty in growing house plants is the dryness of the air in our homes. Some improvement can be made by using radiators for trays and evaporating pans to increase the humidity of the air about the plants. Of course the plants should be given a good general watering as needed, usually once or twice a week. Avoid frequent light sprinkling as they do more harm than good.

Removal of dead leaves and flowers and soil pots at all times will reduce the danger of disease and will help to keep the plants flourishing. All indoor plants require additional food during their active and flowering season. At 3 to 4 week intervals they should be given liquid food which can be obtained already prepared or can be made from a commercial fertilizer purchased in dry form and made up according to directions.
